

The diagram shows a top-down view of a ship's deck layout. The deck is divided into four main sections labeled 'PLOT A', 'PLOT B', 'PLOT C', and 'PLOT D' from right to left. Each plot is a rectangular area. Plot C is highlighted in red. The deck also features a series of vertical lines representing structural elements or equipment, and a large, irregularly shaped area on the right side, possibly a ramp or a large storage area.
